

PADI Equipment Specialty Course

Scuba diving is an equipment intensive recreation, if something goes wrong with the gear, there is a good chance you cannot dive. There is nothing more frustrating than planning your dive day, heading off early to the dive site, and when you set your gear up there is a problem that appears to stop you diving. A lot of the time, with a little knowledge of dive gear, you can rectify the problem yourself or make an educated decision on what to do.

Our one day Equipment Specialty program is designed to:

1. Make you aware of how your dive gear operates
2. Show you how to diagnose & fix common problems
3. Explain how to conduct preventative maintenance
4. Help you assemble a suggested spare parts kit to get you out of trouble.

Now the program is conveniently conducted over one day on a weekend. We start at 9am and finish around 4pm, with plenty of practical demonstrations to make understanding easy.
